

Out of this world

Two years ago, a group of old men created history by going to space. They went on a mission called Apollo 50 and they went to Mars, their names were: Max, Joe, Chica and Jerald. Chica, who knows a lot about space, was feeling pretty nervous. Joe, who was very frightened, nearly fainted because he knows nothing about space. He wanted to come and now he regrets it. Max was sobbing because he couldn't stand this. Also Jerald, who was very calm, tried to calm down Max saying "don't worry I've read loads about space it's not really that scary, there are dangerous things although there are lots of cool things. Space is amazing".

As the tense countdown echoed through the control room, building up the nerves and excitement, the old men were getting ready for the mission. When the gigantic rocket zoomed into the air, it felt like rocks tumbling from a waterfall. Chica, who was feeling a bit more excited, wanted to eat because he felt like he was hungry although it was his excitement. Jerald, who is a nerd about space, explained "in two miles we will go past a black hole" Max screamed because he was so terrified of black holes. He cried "it's going to suck us up"

"no it's not!" exclaimed Joe, "only if we are close to it". "oh ok" Max sighed. Jerald, who read lots about space, said "Look everybody, I think we've gone past a black hole even though you can't see them". Max, who is scared of black holes, said "thank goodness gracious me".

5 hours later ,of endless travel a meteorite zoomed past us and cracked the side of the gigantic ship and we lost our contact to nasa so we could end up anywhere in space even sucked up in a black hole also the power went out we couldn't see. What a disaster !MAX nearly fainted. He cried " we are going to die"!

Jerald calmly explained "don't worry we're going to be ok just stay calm"Max shook with fear "how are going to stay calm I can't see"!Jerald skirted around the ship and he found 4 torches for them. " I told you to keep calm all of a sudden something crashed into the spaceship again .Joe and chica looked outside and saw an army of meteorites.Joe and chica screamed there lungs out they were so scared that they could barely breathe we had to figure something out.

With an army of meteorites, how are they going to survive this terrifying experience?

By Gabriel

Jerald remembered he had a signal to NASA for a backup, he connected it to the ship and found the signal although it took a long time. Max was relieved but when he figured out it took a long time he was about to cry. He cried “ have you got anything to boost the signal?” Just then Chica realised that nasa had given them a plug .Chica went and tried to find it and a after a long time of searching, he found it and everyone was relieved, although there were so many meteorites that they couldnt see anything in space not even earth .Chica plugged the signal on charge and they could talk to nasa now. Everyone celebrated like their team won the world cup final. Max was too scared to see the whole thing while the mission to mars was back on.