

The dangerous space

A few years ago in the year 2100 a few people were chosen to be part of a space mission their names are: mac, axeter, histian, squidney and the leader moouie they were all ten years old and they were quite young so you're probably thinking that they are probably super important or they are super rich but actually they just bought some lottery tickets and they all happened to be lucky. and that lucky was SUPER lucky and they won a trip to space they were only meant to be up there for a few hours but the nerd moouie wanted to stay up there for way longer So they asked and nasa agreed and they were allowed a longer time. exactly 5 days.

After they found out that their request was accepted they got on the rocket ship and they started the countdown "T-minus 10" "T-minus 9" "T-minus 8" T-minus 7 as the countdown got smaller "T-minus 6" T-minus 5" it felt like time was slowing down it sounded slower and they heard everyone in slow motion "T-minus 4" they got kinda anxious and some of them wanted to get off but it had already started and there was no going back now "T-minus 3" time felt normal now "T-minus 2" it was time "T-minus 1 blast off"... the rocket launched upwards and most of them were excited that they were going into space, however mac wasn't. After they fully went up into space (past the karman line) they loved it. They saw loads of things like: black holes, planets, stars, and even a supernova. And they started talking about the things they saw mac was first "i think these are beautiful" he whispered

Moouie murmured "we shouldn't be able to see a supernova" and everyone agreed the engineer Squidney told them that

“the ship is fast but not fast enough to see that unless...” but they just brushed it off

A few hours later and they were bored so they found a game to play it was connect 4 but however the circles kept coming out it so nobody won but eventually moouie won because he held them in place he then shouted “やったー、勝ったよ” (which means Yay, I won!). in japanese because he is trying to learn japanese he would always say “im moouie” in japanese when people asked who he is. When they were floating through space they saw a wormhole it looked like an infinite sinkhole if sinkholes had color it was beautiful but they were going to go into it because the rocket wasn't coded to stay away from it.

They started getting closer to it and it was just a matter of time before they were in it and... they went in and ended up on the other side of the universe with no way back as it had shut. And they panicked because they only had enough supplies and oxygen for a week but they remembered that there was an emergency gun for if they NEEDED it but they had never tested it because it could DESTROY the earth. So They grabbed the gun. went outside, held hands and IT WORKED and saw the big rip they went in and they fell from the sky using their parachutes.

こんにちは、ママ大好きです (this means the end in japanese)
