

My disaster story

A few months ago, a group of extraordinary teenagers impressed Nasa soooo much, they were invited on a mission to space!!! They had to investigate the biggest planet, a gas giant, Jupiter! Mia, who was terrified about it, had butterflies in her stomach the whole way there. Sebastian, who was an EXPERT about space, brought TWO journals just to describe everything that he saw! Stella, who was sceptical about the mission, hesitated to come however she came in the end. Alex, who couldn't contain his excitement, was jumping up and down as well as his eyes sparkling from the thought of being in space!!!!

As the countdown went down one by one, the group felt a mixture of excitement and fear. "Five! Four! Three! Two! One! BLAST OFF!!!" "I can't believe we're doing this!" Alex exclaimed "I want to go back down!" Mia cried. "When are we landing?" she questioned. "Not for a few hours" Stella replied "YAYYY" Alex shouted as he leaned against the glass, not even blinking, watching the Earth slowly fade away. Sebastian already started to write in his journal "This is epic! I can write so many things and show it at school!" Mia was gripping herself to her seat, not moving a centimeter. Alex however, was moving everywhere, if you blinked he would've moved to five different places. Sebastin sat down writing,while Stella was controlling the panel.

After what seemed like eternity of travelling, Stella saw something unusual in the sky coming towards them..."Uh guys,what's that?" Sebastian looked at her with a confused expression "what are you talking about?" Alex couldn't hear anything,he was too busy in his own world thinking about how it is in space.In the blink of an eye,a sudden bang hit the ship,and they were out of orbit!

"AHHHHHH" Mia screamed,tears rolling down her eyes "WERE GOING TO DIE!" Alex's grin,which was wide from ear to ear, disappeared in an instant. "This can't be happening right now!" Sebastian tried to calm everyone down "everyone calm down! We won't get anything done if we all panic!" Everyone was stumbling back and forth,losing balance every second.Would they survive this terrible issue?

All of them were shaking and the ship was out of control.Everyone was panicking now,they couldn't think of anything to do! Mia was now practically crying a river at this point."I want to go back down!" she wailed.While Alex, Stella and Sebastian were trying to figure out what to do,they were still shaking like jelly on a plate."What do we do?!" Stella cried."I don't know!" Alex exclaimed."Well there needs to be something!" Sebastian yelled.On the other hand,Mia was now crying as much as the ocean."Why me?!!" she sobbed."Calm down Mia! We can fix this, I'm sure of it!" Sebastian said calmly,trying to hide the fear in himself. "How can we fix this?! We're out of orbit!" Stella questioned, panicking. "Well there has to be something! Right?" Alex replied.Mia was still crying,this time in the corner of the ship, not wanting to budge.Stella was trying to calm Mia down,while Sebastian and Alex were still panicking.Will they survive this horrible situation?
